In the message center newness is denoted by bolding the section or message that is new. In addition, the menu items has number of messages in parens next to it i.e. Inbox (##)
--
The messages that go into the inbox are only from friends. The message center also tracks sent messages to friends
--
Purchase receipts go in general inbox
--
Selecting any menu items in the left column will refresh the content area of the page with the appropriate content and controls
--
The owner may delete messages and in the actions pulldown the owner can, mark a message as read or unread, and flag as spam or inappropriate
--
The owner can sort messages by sender, subject, and date recieved by selecting the approriate column in the list layout
--
Messages are threaded with the lineage of respondents and the number of replys in the the thread. Along with the subject a shoert snippet of the last message sent shows at this top level to give the user an indication of the message's contents
--
The messages will be paginated if the users inbox gets too long, probably around 50 messages per a page
--
The user may print the screen
--
The user may search their messages

☐		FriendName	MemberName has knocked on your door	mm/dd/yyyy at 0:00 PM

Knocks appear in th knock inbox, here the user may view the knocker's profile or remove them from their inbox
The user only has a cetain ammount of knocks they can use at a time. So if the user sends a knock it is debited from their knock allotment on the flip side if the owner receives a knock they are credited with a knock. So if the max number of knocks is 10 and th user sends to they are at 8 left but if they receive a knock they are bumped to 9.

Knocks get cleared and credited back to the user when either one of these events happen: 1) The knock recipient visits the knocker's profile 2) The knock expires after a certain amount of time due to inactivity (7 Days)
If the user runs out of knocks they must either send a message or invitaion to the recipient to communicate.
--
Selecting the knock will take the user to the sender's profile page

When a comment is made on a piece of content that the user owns, then the name of that item is placed in the new comments inbox automatically
--
The line item in the inbox is then clickable which will take the owner to the comment in context with the content it is referencing
--
The use may delete the comment line item, view how many new comments have been added since the user's last visit, and view when the last comment was added
--
There be a limited time on storing comment alerts (like 30 days)
